Recently the Kwangtung Government was ordered by the Central and South China Military Area Command not to permit automobile mechanics and medical personnel to leave Kwangtung except for official purposes. As a result, all inspection officers on the Kwangtung border were ordered to maintain close check to prevent such persons from leaving the province. 9. approximately 300 Shanghai medical doctors entered military 50X1-HUM service in Korea under the following Chinese Communist pressure: To retain a civilian license the doctor is required to assume a progressive attitude and actively support the Chinese Communist propaganda efforts. Then the doctor is selected for military service as a "volunteer", which appears plausible in view of the foregoing activities. His license is suspended for six months while he is in active military service, after which time it is renewable.
